

CNBC EVENTS TERMS OF SERVICE

1. Registration Transfer Policy. Transfers, assignments and substitutions are accepted with CNBC approval. To transfer your registration, please check the CNBC Events page for your specific event or notify CNBC (events@cnbc.com) as soon as possible.
2. Registration Cancellation Policy. The registration fees for CNBC Events are only refundable upon approval by CNBC. A refund will be issued if notified two weeks or 10 business days before the event. To request a refund, please notify CNBC Events as soon as possible by sending an email to events@cnbc.com.
3. Apply to Attend. You may attend CNBC Events by applying to attend or if you receive an invitation. In either case, admission to attend a CNBC Event is subject to CNBC's discretion. Please note that applying to attend a CNBC Event does not guarantee admission.
4. Recording & Photography Policy. Unless otherwise specified, all CNBC Events are on the record for journalistic and editorial purposes. Video and audio recordings of CNBC Events by attendees are strictly prohibited. The audio and video content of CNBC Events is copyrighted and owned by NBCUniversal. Each attendee that attends a CNBC Event grants NBCUniversal the right to photograph, film, or make audiovisual recordings of their name, voice and likeness (the "Materials"). NBCUniversal may use, edit or display such Materials in any media or platform now known or hereafter devised, with no claim to compensation or attribution. Attendees are responsible for their own travel and accommodations in connection with any CNBC Events.
5. Attendee Information. As a condition of registering for CNBC Events, your name, job title, and employer will be shared with the event sponsor.